Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

1. Claims 1, 3, 10-11, 15, 17, 28-39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US Patent NO.5569186 to Lord et al.

Lord teaches an infusion pump including a fluid outlet; a fluid delivery pathway effective for extending from the fluid outlet to a discharge portion positionable at a target tissue site; and a controlled release drug assembly, the drug assembly being configured for controllably releasing drug material, and communicating with the fluid delivery pathway such that the drug material is released into the fluid delivery pathway, wherein the pump assembly is effective to deliver a carrier fluid to the fluid outlet such that the drug material released into the fluid pathway discharges at the discharge portion to treat the target tissue site.

2. Claims 1, 3, 7-8, 10-11, 14-17, 19-20, 22, 25, 28-40 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by US Pub NO. 25004/0034332 to Uhland.

Uhland teaches an infusion pump including a fluid outlet; a fluid delivery pathway effective for extending from the fluid outlet to a discharge portion positionable at a target tissue site; and a controlled release drug assembly, the drug assembly being configured for controllably releasing drug material, and communicating with the fluid delivery pathway such that the drug material is released into the fluid delivery pathway, wherein the pump assembly is effective to deliver a carrier fluid to the fluid outlet such that the drug material released into the fluid pathway discharges at the discharge portion to treat the target tissue site. Drug assembly is a microchip; the system also comprises of biosensors.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 3763

Claims 7-8, 14, 19, 20, 22, 25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US Patent NO.5569186 to Lord et al as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of US Patent NO.5797898 to Santini et al..

As mentioned above Lord teaches the invention except for a microchip. Santini teaches a use of microchip in drug delivery . Therefore it would have been obvious to one having ordinarily skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have added a microchip for the reservoir because as Santini teaches a microchip allows for a wide variety of delivery rate as well as for storing different type of drugs.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1, 3, 7-8, 10-11, 14-17, 19-20, 22, 25, 28-40 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
